

THE DAILY APPEAL.

A DONATION PARTY will be given at the White House this evening by the Methodist Congregation for the benefit of Rev. J. W. Stump. A general invitation is extended.

A NEW PAINT SHOP has just been opened by C. Anderson and P. Beard in the new building erected by the Kitzmeyer Brothers, opposite Wells, Fargo & Co's office, on Carson Street. All sorts of painting will be done there—signs, carriages, houses &c &c, all the branches of the trade, in fact. They are reputed thorough workmen and they certainly have excellent conveniences for doing good work.

NEW BUILDINGS ON CARSON STREET.—The Kitzmeyer Brothers have just finished a new frame building on their property adjoining Benton's stable; and Mr. George Kitzmeyer informed us yesterday that it is his intention to erect a brick building for their own use—in the saddlery and harness business—on the half lot adjoining. This will be done as soon as the weather and a supply of bricks will permit. A little more of this sort of enterprise on the part of our citizens and the benefits of the railroad would be anticipated—for we reckon the railroad to be a pretty sure thing this time.

MUD AND SNOW ON THE WASHOE ROAD. The storm of rain, snow and sleet of Saturday night which was accompanied by such a screaming tempest of wind filled Washoe Valley with great drifts of snow which, added to the previous muddy condition of the roads makes traveling with vehicles almost impossible from this direction. On Sunday afternoon Hank Monk came in with a mail bag, on horseback, and soon after his arrival Dyer and Judge Beatty came in also on horseback. The Judge brought another mail bag on his back. Dyer had started with his stage but had to give it up, when about one mile this side of Washoe City; so they turned back and took to saddles. They described the road as greatly impeded by snow drifts and Dyer declared that it would take a wagon with the best kind of a team three weeks to make the trip from Washoe to Carson, with the road in its present condition. Guess they will have to have a railroad through that afflicted valley.

THE FENIAN BALL.—This is "St. Patrick's Day in the Morning," and the "Wearing of the Green" will be in order. We warrant that no Irishman or Irishwoman within a radius of many miles about Carson is ignorant of the preparations that have been made by the Fenians of this locality for the ball which is to be given this evening in honor of the patron Saint of the "Gem of the Ocean," at the Turn Verein Hall. We predict a very hearty, jolly time, with no limit to the fun and no abatement in the dancing until the dawn begins to show itself—about which time the enthusiastic ones—and who among them will not be enthusiastic—will start for home singing as they go—

When the law can keep the blades of grass from growing as they grow, and when the leaves in summer time their verdure are not shown, then I will change the color I wear in my caboose; But till that time, please God, I'll stick to Wearing of the Green!

EASTERN DISPATCHES.

From the Virginia Enterprise of Sunday.]

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Affairs are very quiet at the White House to-day. No visitors were admitted, on account of the Cabinet meeting. General Thomas, who attended several meetings lately, was not present to-day.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The public reprimand of Rev. Stephen H. Tyng, Jr., in accordance with the sentence of the Ecclesiastical Council, will be pronounced to-morrow.

It is reported that several Directors of the Erie Railroad have been arrested for contempt of Court in violating the injunction against the issue of more stock.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—In the Senate at 11 o'clock the ladies' gallery was packed by a brilliant audience, in full dress as upon an opera night. The Senators' seats were arranged as before, in the open space. In front of the President's chair are two long tables, each furnished with seven chairs, one table intended for the managers and the other for the counsel. Back at the Senators' seats and filling the entire lobby are about 100 chairs, intended for the accommodation of the members of the House Judiciary Committee and others entitled to be present on the floor. By 11½ o'clock half of the Senators had ranged themselves in little knots discussing the momentous business of the day. It was noticeable that not a single negro was in the galleries. Everything was conducted in perfect order. The Chaplain invoked the blessing of the Almighty upon those now entering upon an important duty. The bill to amend the Judiciary Act of 1789 came from the House signed, and received the signature of the President pro tempore.

The Senate insisted upon the amendments to the consular appropriation bill and appointed a committee of conference.

At 1 o'clock, the morning hour having expired, the Chief Justice took the chair and the Sergeant-at-Arms made proclamation in the usual form. The Secretary read the journal of the last meeting of the Court, a large number of Representatives, headed by the managers of Impeachment Committee, meanwhile standing in file outside the door.

Howard called for the order that the Sergeant-at-Arms notify the House that the Senate was organized as a Court of Impeachment and ready to proceed to the trial of Andrew Johnson.

Immediately thereafter the managers and members of the House took the seats provided for them, Butler being absent. The Senators who had not already done so took the oath.

HOUSE. WASHINGTON, March 13.—While the House was engaged in the transaction of unimportant business, the Secretary of the Senate appeared and announced that the Senate adhered to its amendments to the Diplomatic Appropriation bill, and that the Senate was now ready to proceed with the trial of impeachment, and that seats had been provided for the accommodation of the House.

On motion of Washburne of Illinois the House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole and the Speaker appointed Washburne to preside, and the members then proceeded to the Senate Chamber.

In the Senate this afternoon the return of the Sergeant-at-Arms of the service of summons upon the President was read, when the counsel for the President were notified of the commencement of the proceedings, and Stanbery, Curtis and Nelson took their seats at the table on the right of the Chief Justice and opposite the managers, who were seated on the left. Stanbery then rose and addressing the Chief Justice read the answer of the President entering his appearance and naming as his counsel Messrs. Stanbery, Curtis, Nelson, Black and Exerts, and asking a reasonable time for the preparation of his defense—a period of 40 days—and citing the various cases in which periods as long in proportion to the magnitude of the case had been granted.

Bingham cited the eighth rule, which provides for an appearance of the President, and he was required to file answer in the case. The answer had not been filed. The trial should proceed as on a plea of not guilty and he claimed therefore that the trial should proceed forthwith.

Curtis cited the cases of Judge Humphreys and others and argued that the rule was not susceptible of the construction placed upon it by Mr. Benjamin.

Nelson also spoke. Stanbery expressed surprise at the claim put forth by the managers. He said there seemed to be a disposition to hurry through this momentous trial like a case in the Police Court.

Bingham assented that the only motive of the managers was to enforce the Senate rule and prevent a dilatory line of defense.

Edmunds offered an order that April 1st be the day appointed for the filing of the President's answer, and that within three days thereafter the manager file a replication, and the trial to proceed on April 6th.

On motion of Morton, at 2 o'clock, the Senate retired for consultation, and returned to the chamber at ten minutes past 4, when the Court reassembled and the Chief Justice announced that the motion had been overruled and order entered that the President be required to file his answer on Monday, March 23d, 1868.

Bingham offered an order that upon the filing of the replication by the managers the trial proceed forthwith.

The Chief Justice submitted the order to the Senate, and it was rejected—yeas 25, nays 26.

Nelson, of counsel, argued the necessity for cautious deliberations. He said the last two charges of the House opened a Pandora's box, which would necessitate a full investigation of all points of difference between the President and Congress.

Conkling offered an amendment that unless cause for delay be shown, the trial proceed forthwith, after the filing of the replication.

Bingham expressed the satisfaction of the managers with the amendment, which was adopted, and the Court adjourned till the 23d of March.

The House members then returned, and Washburne, Chairman of the committee, reported the action taken in the Senate, and the House adjourned.

LUCKY SAN FRANCISCANS.—Says the San Francisco Times:

Two of our citizens have fallen in for a very pretty fortune, as the following statement will show. Some time ago one William Budd died in England, leaving an estate which, by judicious management, has increased until it is now valued at the enormous sum of £16,000,000 or $80,000,000. The estate was left to the heirs of William Budd, of Burlington County, New Jersey. The first descendant of William Budd was Levy Budd; the next George Budd, and the third George R. Budd, who is now living in St. Louis, Missouri, and has two sons residing in San Francisco, viz: C. P. Budd and W. C. Budd. We are sure that no one would "wish to be a flower," if they saw a chance of becoming a Budd of this family. When these good fortunes become known it is very probable that the worship of Budd-a will become fashionable in this State.
